SUMNER AND FESSENDEN.

Upon the adjournment of the Senate that day (of the speech against Andrew Johnson's policy), Sumner came over to the House, and asked me to ride home with him, telling at the same time his experience in the Senate during that day. We rode from the Capitol to his lodgings, and we passed on our way the funeral cortege of Governor Corwin, and as we gazed on the casket containing his remains, he said: "That is the end of a most eminent citizen's career, and how I wish my mission was over, and I could be in his place; for it makes me so unhappy to differ so widely from personal and political friends whom I esteem so highly. But I must do my duty." His personal antagonisms, though generally unavoidable by one governed by such a rigid sense of duty, injured his reputation and made for him many bitter enemies. It is well known among his friends that for many years he and Senator Fessenden were not on speaking terms. It was a source of great discomfort and pain to the numerous friends of both the distinguished Senators, I said one day to Mr. Sumner that it seemed a shame, if not disgraceful, that the two most eminent Senators and distinguished statesmen of New England should indulge in a personal quarrel with each other. He replied that it was not his fault. Senator Fessenden said the same to me, "that he was not in fault." A few days afterward Mr. Sumner was informed that Senator Fessenden spoke in high praise of his debating powers on one occasion, which indicated, he thought, that the Maine Senator really appreciated and felt kindly toward him. The next day they informed me that they had become reconciled, without either of them apologizing.

They remained mutually friendly and admiring for some time, when a newspaper reporter gave to the public a conversation had with Sumner, in which he spoke of Fessenden in terms which angered the latter very much, and he refused from that time forward, until the 13th of April, 1869, to recognize or speak to Mr. Sumner. On the 13th of April, 1869, the great speech of the Massachusetts Senator upon the Alabama claims, which created such a profound sensation both in Europe and America, was delivered in the Senate in secret session, and it was this speech that made the settlement of the Alabama claims possible, upon a better basis than the one proposed. Immediately upon the conclusion of this speech, Mr. Fessenden arose and spoke as follows:

"I rise to express my gratitude and thanks to the distinguished Senator from Massachusetts for the powerful and exhaustive speech which he has just delivered—a speech so accurate in statement, so powerful in argument, so excellent in tone and temper, placing our country before the world in its true relations—a speech which no other man in this country is competent to make, and a speech which, in my judgment, is the greatest and the ablest ever made within the walls of this Capital; and I thank him for it from the bottom of my heart."

This of course brought them together again, and they remained warm friends until the decease of the great Maine Senator a few months later. Two days before the death of Mr. Fessenden a report was circulated that Charles Sumner was dead.

A few days after the death of Mr. Fessenden, I entered the room of Mr. Sumner and found him reading a letter in which he seemed deeply interested. He remarked, Here is a letter which I cannot show, but would like to have you read. It was from Judge Shepley, which related an incident which I have never since heard mentioned, and do not think has ever been made public. The Judge, alluding to the false report of the Senator's death, said that when he saw the report upon the bulletin board he hastened to the bedside of the dying Senator, and told him of the report. "What," he exclaimed, "Charles Sumner dead—impossible! The greatest, the wisest, and the best man in the Senate of the United States, how can the country spare him?" and again exclaimed the greatest, the wisest and the best taken from amongst us! How mysterious are the ways of Providence!" Such was the dying testimony of the distinguished Senator from Maine to the great qualities of head and heart of the illustrious Charles Sumner. Our great Senator for a brief period abandoned the Republican organization, but I had the infinite satisfaction of hearing from his own lips the last time I saw him, but a short time before his death, as I parted from him in his own chamber, past midnight: "There is no safety for the Republic but in the success of the Republican party."—J. B. Alley at the meeting of the Massachusetts Club.

A missionary of the Church of Scotland, writing from China, says: "I forgot to mention that at Chin Yuen we saw a herd of swine in boots. It seems that, having far to be driven to market, the poor creatures' feet get knocked up; but giving them a pair—or two pairs—of boots, made of straw, they are enabled to do the journey without risk of hurting their legs."

How a Man Goes to Bed.

Speaking of how a man goes to bed, an exchange says:

"There's where a man has the advantage. He can undress in a cold room and have his bed warm before a woman has got her hair pins out and her shoes untied."

That's how it looks in print, and this is how it is in reality: "I am going to bed my dear. It's half past ten." No reply. "Now, John; you know you're always late in the morning. Do get to bed!" "Yes, in a minute," he replies, as he turns the paper wrong side out and begins a lengthy article headed, "The Louisiana Muddle." Fifteen minutes later she calls from the bedroom: "John, come to bed, and not keep the gas burning here all night," and murmuring something about the bill being big enough now," she creeps between the cold sheets, while John sits placidly on his feet across the piano stool and a cigar in his mouth. By-and-by he rises, yawns, stretches himself, throws the paper on the floor, and, seizing the shaker, proceeds to that yigorous exercise, shaking the coal stove. Just at this stage a not altogether pleasant voice inquires: "For pity's sake! ain't you ready for bed yet?" "Yes; yes, I'm coming! Why don't you go to sleep and let a fellow alone?"

Then he discovers that there's coal needed. When that is supplied and rattled into the stove he sits down to warm his feet.—Next he slowly begins to undress, and as he stands scratching himself and absently gazing on the last garment, dangling over the back of the chair, he remembers that the clock is not wound yet. When that is attended to he wants a drink of water, and away he promenades to the kitchen. Of course, when he returns his skin resembles that of a picked chicken, and once more he seats himself before fire for a last "warm-up." As the clock strikes twelve he turns out the gas, and with a flop of the bedclothes and a few spasmodic shivers he subsides. No, not yet; he forgot to see if the front door was locked, and another flop of the bed clothes brings forth the remark: "Good gracious! if that man ain't enough to try the patience of Job!" Setting her teeth hard she awaits the final flop, with the accompanying blast of cold air, and then quietly inquires "if he is settled for the night," to which he replies by muttering: "If you ain't the provokingest woman!"

A Buffalo, N. Y., correspondent of the Providence (R. I., Journal relates the following incident in connection with the inclement weather at Buffalo: "A funeral procession of six or eight carriages started on Thursday, the worst day of the storm, to go to the cemetery. They were obliged, on account of the drifts, to take the road that runs along the Lake shore, and slowly plodded their way along what they supposed was the proper street. Finding they did not reach their destination, they stopped after awhile to investigate, and found to their horror that they were one mile from the land out on the frozen waters of Lake Erie. The ice was thin and treacherous, and in their bewilderment they hardly knew which way to turn, but at last, with fear and trembling and almost perished with cold, they crept back to the shore and returned with their dead to the city, to defer their mournful errand to another day."

A BISHOP'S FOLLY.—The great pile that is shown to visitors to Montreal as St. Peter's Church is to be pulled down. The church was a project of ex-Bishop Bourget; was built after the model of St. Peter's at Rome and contains, as it stands, more masonry than would build the New York Post Office. Lack of funds to complete the building is the cause assigned for its demolition. It would have been the largest church on the American continent.

Several farmers in Wisconsin, who not long ago complied with importunities to sign a temperance pledge, are being astonished by the presentation of promissory notes promising to pay cash instead of to practise total abstinence. Any farmer who could be so deceived must surely need to sign a genuine temperance pledge.

"Say, good woman," said a man on a country road the other day, "Did you see a bicycle pass here just now!" "No, I didn't see no kind of a sickle, but just now I see a waggon wheel runnin' away with a man. You kin believe it or no; I wouldn't if I hadn't seen it myself."

An old colored man, named J. Lewis, has just died at Cambridge, Nova Scotia. He was a slave on board the United States frigate Chesapeake at the time she was captured by the British frigate Shannon in 1813, and was carried to Halifax by the victors.

Rhode Island youth were very closely coefined in the olden time. "Roger," the mother of the second Roger Williams used to say: "Roger! my son! you may go out to play, but be sure you don't get outside the State!"

"Mamma, do you know how I get into bed so quick?" "No, my darling. How do you?" "Why, I put one foot on the bed, and then holler out 'Rats!' and scare myself right in."

In the first transport of delight the happy father rushed into the room exclaiming:—"I've got a son! It's a boy!"

The Woodon Hat.

Somewhere about the year 1780, a traveling millwright, footsore, and with the broadest Northern Doric accent, stopped at Soho, the engine factory of Boulton & Watt, and asked for work. His aspect was little better than one of beggary, and Boulton had bidden him God speed to some other shop, when, as he was turning away sorrowfully, Boulton suddenly called him back.

"What kind of a hat's yon ye have on your head, me mon?"

"It's just timmer, sir,"

"Timber, me mon? Let's look at it. Where did ye get it?"

"I just made it, sir, me ain sel."

"How did you make it?"

"I just turned it in the lathie."

"But it's oval, mon, and the lathie turns things round."

"Awee! I just gar'd the lathie gang anither gate, to please me, and I thocht to have a hat to keep out water, and I had na muckle siller to spare, and I made me one,"

By his inborn mechanism the man had invented an oval lathe and made his hat and the hat made his fortune. Boulton was not the man to lose so valuable a help, and so the after famous Wiiliam Murdock, the originator of locomotives and of lighting by gas, took suit and service under Boulton & Watt, and in 1784 made the first vehicle impelled by steam in England, and with the very hands and brain cunning that had before produced the "timmer hat."—N. Y. Post.

Since the death of Rev. Dr. Chapin the story is also revived of a Universalist clergyman who, having exchanged with Dr. Chapin one Sunday, and having seen the congregation begin to file out as soon as he took his place in the desk, arose and said: "All those who came here to worship E. H. Chapin will now have an opportunity to leave the house; all those who came to worship Almighty God will join in the following hymn." The benediction was pronounced before any one else left.

H. Price McGrath, the great Kentucky horseman, recently entertained Brignoli, the tenor at Lexington, and asked him to sing a song, which he declined, as singing was his profession, and he only practised it on the stage. McGrath made the retort courteous when Brignoli desired to see the swift-footed Tom Bowling and his master, by saying, "Horse racing ii my profession; come to the next spring meeting."

Everybody has heard of the jolly Dutchman who, when the steamboat was likely to sink, succeeded, after much trouble in finding a life-preserver large enough to fit him. While he was trying his best to blow it up, a young fellow standing by said: "You can't fill that with wind, it leaks. Don't you hear it siss?" "Ish dot so?" he replied. "Vell, I dinks den, I petter keep de vind in myself."

The President of a horse railroad company in New Orleans remains in the parish prison in contempt for refusing to tell in court to whom he paid some $70,000, by means of which his company secured from the common council a valuable franchise. The Superior Court of the State has refused to interfere in his behalf.

A lecturer once prefaced his discourse upon the rhinoceros with, "I must beg you to give me your undivided attention; indeed it is absolutely impossible that you can form a true idea of the hideous animal of which we are about to speak unless you keep your eyes fixed on me!"

No man leaves the world in all things as he found it. The habits which he was instrumental in forming may go on from century to century, an heirloom for good or evil, doing their work of misery or happiness, blasting or blessing the country that has now lost all record of his memory.

A couple of lawyers engaged in a case were recently discussing the issues. "At all events, "said the younger and more enthusiastic, "we have justice on our side." To which the older and waried replied, "quite true; but what we want is the chief justice on our side."

An enthusiastic Chicago inventor claims to have discovered a method by which sawdust can be made into car wheels, and has made a model which resists a pressure of twenty-three tons upon its hub without showing signs of weakness.

The condor of the Andes is said to kill his prey with his bill, and the milliners of this country are trying the game on the married men.

A traveling printer, who, for want of employment at his trade, went to work on a farm, came in one day to ask his employer if a hen could be set solid.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 24, 1881.

As there has been a revival of the talk concerning an extra session of Congress, the canvass by the various candidates for the Speakership is growing lively. At least a dozen candidates are in the field, and all are making a hot canvass. Last week the belief was general that there was a perfect understanding that Mr. Blaine would resign his seat in the Senate before the adjournment of the Maine Legislature, and that Representative Frye would be elected to fill the vacancy. As Mr. Frye is, by far, the most popular candidate for the Speakership. This general belief in his promotion to the Senate, scattered to a great extent his followers, besides having the effect of complicating the situation by creating quite a number of smaller candidates. The recent announcement that Mr. Blaine had no intention of resigning his seat, and that Mr. Frye will remain in the House, and is consequently a candidate, has left several aspirants without support, but who, nevertheless, express their entire willingnes to do all in their power to aid in Mr. Frye's election. With Mr. Frye out of the way, Mr. Hiscock, of New York, would stand an excellent chance, but that gentleman positively declines being a rival of Mr. Frye. Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, is an unconditional candidate, and especially since the election of Mr. Conger to the Senate. In fact, if there is much of a contest over the Speakership, Mr. Burrows will be Mr. Frye's strongest opponent. Mr. Dunnell, of Minnesota, also claims considerable support. Mr. Kasson, now at Vienna, sometime since announced himself a candidate, but his absence from the scene of conflict is greatly to his disadvantage. Judge Orth is also in the hands of his friends. Judge Kelly, of Pennsylvania, is also spoken of as a candidate, but his prospects do not seem flattering. It is generally conceded that Mr. Frye, if he remains in the House, will be the next Speaker.

There is considerable doubt expressed just now, as to whether Congress will be able to pass the reapportionment bill at this session. But thirty-two working days remain, and the funding bill must be passed, and the electoral votes counted. There was a long debate over the Apportionment bill of 1872, and the new questions likely to arise in connection with the present one, such as reducing the representation of some of the Eastern States, will probably make the contest over the bill as long as that over the one of 1872.

Though there is a strong sentiment against an extra session at the Capital, old politicians say one is not improbable, as much depends upon the amount of time given to the funding bill; which, all concede, must be passed, and the contest over the electoral count resolutions, which the Democrats may call up at any time—some say, this week. A number of the important appropriation bills have yet to pass the House; the Senate is behind hand on the ones already through the former body, and a conference committee is at work on the Consular and Diplomatic.

The Library Committee held an informal conference this morning in regard to the purchase of the Franklin papers and documents, which have been offered to Congress. It was decided to confer with the Secretary of State before deciding upon the question.

L. B. Hodges, Secretary of the Minnesota Forestry Association, reported the other day that for the first time in the history of the State, hundreds of prairie settlers have been compelled this Winter to burn their furniture, their farm implements, the floors out of their houses, their stables and outhouses, to keep themselves from freezing. Others, with plenty of bedding, have lain in bed days at a time to keep warm; and others have bought pine lumber at $17 to $20 per thousand, and burned it to save life.

On Sunday last over ten inches of rain fell at Shasta within four hours and thirty minutes. The total rainfall this Winter is over 80 inches. We should judge that Shasta would be the proper place to start a duck ranch.

Arizona, in two years past, has paid as internal revenue taxes the sum of $55,863 92, and the people want the General Government to expend part of it in public buildings within the Territory.

New York Times, says $225,000 has already been subscribed to the Presidential fund, which will likely be given outright to Grant.

Congressman Berry has introduced a bill directing the Secretary of War to make Benicia Arsenal a manufactory of United States arms, but it is not likely to pass.

General Grant is again going to Mexico to look after his railway project in that section.

Thomas Carlyle is seriously ill, and is believed to be beyond recovery.

The Pennsylvania Legislature is still balloting for a United States Senator.

LAW AND ORDER

An organization, purporting to be "Law and Order," has been perfected in Bodie, and its manifesto, over the signatures of a number of its members, has been published to the people. Among them we find a small sprinkling of law-abiding citizens—men of unquestionable character and integrity; men who were willing to aid the association with their moral support, but will never be found in the ranks of their associates armed to fire upon a body of the backbone of the respectable citizens, not only of Bodie, but of Antelope, Bridgeport and Mill Creek, when Justice, and the security of life and property demand the summary execution of a criminal, and the peace-able people resolve to thus protect themselves by speedily punishing cold-blooded murderers, without expending thousands of dollars waiting upon the delays and uncertainties o law. The sprinkling alluded to gives some good tone to the organization, but most of its members belong to the pistol brigade, and are ready to draw their weapons alike upon friend or foe on the slightest pretext; indeed some did upon each other last Sunday evening. It is unusual for well-disposed and law-abiding citizens to volunteer to protect murderers and thieves before crimes are committed, or officers solicit aid. We doubt if such an undesirable element as composes the Law and Order Party of Bodie would be accepted by the officers. We do not believe they would demand outside aid to save a DaRoche from the merited vengeance of good people. Upon demand for a criminal by a Committee of respectable citizens, the officers would not risk life and property to protect him, and they would not empower others to do that which they would not themselves. But the Committees in Mono county are single-handed strong enough to overpower opposition to the enforcement of their decrees, and their combined forces are overwhelming. We believe that eight hours notice would place one hundred armed horsemen on the streets of Bodie, and twenty-four hours would do better. We trust that it may never be required.

GREAT FLOODS.—The late heavy storm was very severe and did an incalculable amount of damage on the other side of the mountains. The levees on both sides of the Sacramento river, above and below the Capital City, have been broken by the immense volume of water in the river, and the entire country is under water—one vast inland sea, and scores of farms have been totally ruined. No such storm has occurred within the past twelve years.

On this side of the mountains the storm was also severe, but as yet we have heard of no serious damage. The storm that set in on Thursday morning was also a heavy one, raining all that day and far into the night, when it changed to snow, which continued to fall till ten o'clock yesterday morning, when it cleared.

On Thursday the reservoir back of Franktown, on the line of the Virginia and Truckee Railroad, broke and is reported to have swept away the entire town. The people had sufficient warning to enable them to save their household effects. No lives were lost. A portion of the railroad track was carried away.

President Hayes has requested Commander Jeffers to prepare a statement of the cost of fitting out a vessel to search for the Arctic steamer Jeannette. It would be in order for him to estimate the cost of fitting out a vessel to hunt for the Wachusett—the one proposed for the Jeannette hunt. It is time this Arctic fever was abated. Enough valuable lives have been lost, and money expended, in these perilous expeditions, without accomplishing much, to satisfy the masses of the American people that the game is not worth the sacrifices that have been made.

Uncle Sam is richer than he thought himself to be. The Commissioner of the General Land Office has made the startling discovery that within the limits of the United States, north of Texas, between Indian Territory and New Mexico, is a parallelogram of nearly four million acres, 200,000 cattle, and a large number of outlaws, without any form of government. It was overlooked when the public surveys were made, and is reckoned one of the finest regions in the West.

It cost Sandy Bowers $240,000 to erect the building now known as the "Bowers Mansion," and the furniture, books, pictures, etc., cost $45,000 additional. The walls of the building are of blocks of the hardest granite.

On Thursday we had another heavy rain changing to snow during the night and giving us about four inches on our streets, by ten oclock yesterday morning, when it cleared off. To-day is boisterous and we may get another dose.

The Assembly Committee of Claims has reported in favor of the passage of a bill to grant James W. Marshall, the discoverer of gold in California, the sum of $50 a month for two years;

John Pearl, while trying to save a drowning man, near San Jose, Sunday, lost his own life.

A steamer was sunk by floating ice on Lake Michigan Sunday, but no lives were lost.

Aggie Farren, aged 16, shot and killed herself at Woodland last Saturday.

JOB PRINTING.—Job printing of the finest description will be furnished at this office at Sacramento prices.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

INDIAN SUPERSTITION.—A short time since one of our citizens, whose wife is an artist, had two Indians—Boker Dick and Walking Sam, cutting wood. Sitting by the window the wife sketched the mountains, and in the foreground were the Indians. She showed it to a mahala, who was washing for her. Recognizing Boker Dick and Walking Sam, she exclaimed:—"Heep bad, Indians die!" One day last week Sam rode at a furious rate from Walker River to town, forty miles, to see the picture. Greatly excited he strode into the house and demanded to see the sketch. Upon seeing it he was more excited, and said that "a picture of Piute make him die." Not knowing who it was, and to quiet him, the little daughter of the lady told him that it was another Indian; that it was Walking Sam. Striking his chest, he ejaculated: "I'm Walking Sam!" Offering to buy it—bluff price $50, he said that three Indians would get the money, and he would take the picture.

JAIL ARTISANS.—About 11 o'clock, last Saturday morning, Deputy Sheriff Viles, hearing a suspicious noise in the jail, investigated and discovered Draper and Morton making a key with which to unlock the cell. Failing to elicit the whereabouts of the tools, Draper was triced by the thumbs. Standing tiptoe a few minutes, he offered to tell where the tool was, but denying that there were more than one, he was informed that he could hang awhile longer. In a few moments he yielded and disclosed that a small awl and handsaw file were concealed in a crack of the floor. The key, an evidence of ingenuity, is evidently made from a zinc plate, and, to acquire thickness and solidity, successive layers were to be riveted on. One plate was on and the holes were ready for another.

SUPERIOR COURT No. 2.—A bill having been introduced by Senator Nye, of Alameda, to repeal the Act for the appointment of an additional Superior Judge for Mono county, to take effect upon certain contingencies, and the contemplated additional Judge for Alameda county, coupled with the fact that the author of the repeal bill is a Senator from that county, instead of Mono's delegation, we infer that one of the "contingencies" is a vacancy, and that Judge Wiggin may retire from the Mono Bench and assume that of Alameda. Should this inference be correct, Governor Perkins could not make a better appointment.

ANOTHER GONE.—Bodie has lost another "amateur"—gone to the Bay. When one of the "profession" wishes to get away from Bodie he gets up a "complimentary" benefit to himself, and there have been—and are—enough fools in that town to fall into the trap, and away goes the "amateur" to San Francisco with about $200—withdrawn from Bodie circulation. Who will be the next candidate for a "complimentary?"

MINING MODELS.—United States Deputy Surveyor Anderson, of Bodie, has been engaged for the past five weeks upon models of the underground workings of the Bodie and Jupiter mines. The models are to be used as exhibits in the suit pending in the U. S. District Court, at San Francisco. The work will be completed within the next ten days. They are handsomely finished and are worthy of inspection.

THANKS.—We are indebted to Assemblyman Coleman, of Alpine, for a copy of the "State and County Governments, 1881—Executive, Judicial and Legislative Departments, State of California," compiled by D. M. Burns, Secretary of State. It gives the name and salary of every officer in the State, from Governor down to Supervisors, and also the Judicial officers and members of the Legislature, with their Postoffice address. It is a handy book of reference.

THE ROADS.—The roads are heavy after the late storms, but are, generally, in pretty fair condition. The road to Sweetwater was somewhat demoralized, but two or three days work will put it in good order. We doubt if there are any roads in the State that passed through the late storms in better order than those in this vicinity.

PERSONAL.—County Clerk B. H. Miller returned home from Sacramento on Thursday. Supervisor Wetherill, who has been to Carson on county business, arrived here yesterday, accompanied by T. W. Davies, of Carson, he having been retained by the county in the Reddy-Tinkum suit in the Supreme Court.

LARGELY SIGNED.—A petition to the President of the United States for the pardon of the Mussel Slough prisoners has been circulated here this week, and nearly every man in Bridgeport signed it. A like petition has been circulating in Bodie and largely signed.

NEW POST OFFICE.—A Post Office has been established at Hot Springs, in this county, near the junction of the Antelope and Sonora roads, fourteen miles from this town. Samuel Fales, the proprietor of the Springs, has received his commission as Postmaster.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.—The Board of Supervisors will meet in regular session on Monday next.

The following deeds have been recorded in the County Recorder's office:

Jan. 29.

Matt Laughlin, Thos. H. Kennedy and Simon Ryan to George W. Butterfield, 750 feet of the Bryant mine, Homer District, $2,500.

Jan. 31.

Daniel Mansfield to Daniel F. Donnelly, ¼ Cornett Blind Spring, Mammoth Dist., $250.

Transfers of Real Estate.

The following deeds have been recorded in the County Recorder's office:

Jan. 24

James D. Peeler and wife to David R. Peeler, ½ int in the corral, barn and lots in Bridgeport, known as the Summer & Peeler property, $1,500.

Feb. 1.

L. J. Frites and M. Kitland to S. F. Silva, lot on Mill street, Bodie, $75.

Feb. 2.

R. S. Patterson, Sheriff, to John A. Creaser, interest of A. B. Williams in mill site and quartz mill, Benton.

We clip the following items from the Bodie Free Press of yesterday;

The town of Bodie has been flooded for the past few days, and the principal streets have become virtually impassible. During Wednesday night several private residences on Mono and upper Main street were flooded to the depth of several inches, and on Thursday the river running through Mono street would almost swim a horse, in places The Board of Supervisors ought to take the matter under consideration, and make an appropriation out of the onerous road tax imposed upon the people of the town for conducting the creek from Booker Flat through a sewer, canal or flume that can be readily flushed from time to time in order to clear out the accumulating debris from the mills above.

J. A Graham, Superintendent of the Last Chance mine, left by Thursday's stage for Carson. At Reno he will join the Knights of Pythias excursion party for San Francisco, and after the session of the Grand Lodge will probaly visit Arizona before returning.

A rich strike has been made in the Noonday mine on the 512-level, 350 feet south of the combination shaft. The rich streak is over five feet wide, but the exact width is not known. The average assays are $226 a ton—nearly all gold.

In the recent 72-hours walking match in Carson between W. H. Scott of San Francisco and George E. Wilcox of Bodie, Scott won the race by a score of 245 miles to 240 miles for Wilcox.

The C. & C. railroad is completed a distance of 57 miles from the Mound House. Progress is being made at the rate of 1¼ miles to 1½ miles per day.

Parties are talking of establishing a telephone exchange in Bodie, by connecting the principal mines, business houses and private residences with a central office.

Constable Kirgan still holds his commission as Deputy Sheriff, his appointment not having been revoked as was supposed.

The Standard Con. will pay its regular dividend of 75 cents on the 12th.

Ed Ryan was somewhat stronger on Thursday, but was delirious most of the day.

"AFTER" NEVADA.—The press, generally, is pitching into our Sister State rough-shod, all on account of its late disgraceful Senatorial election. The Oakland Times says: "The population of the "State" of Nevada is 61,265, while the population of Alameda county is 62,972. It would be rough on us if we had to be taxed to support a whole retinue of State officers and an indefinite number of county officials, though there is doubtless more wealth here than in the whole of the bogus State that sells the Senatorship. It is a pity that a way cannot be found for wiping out the State Government and remanding Nevada to the condition of a territory.

REMOVALS IN CONTEMPLATION.—Private advices from Bodie state that P. Reddy, Esq., has signified his intention of removing to San Francisco permanently and establishing a law firm in that city. General Kittrel contemplates fixing his residence in Leadville, and Miner, the Wade Hampton of the West, talks of casting his lot in some heathen nation which will appreciate his eloquence. This general thinning out of Blackstone will be a matter of congratulation among the younger legal meteors whose wisdom is quite on a par with the old roosters.—Inyo Independent.

At Fort Steele, Jan. 30, Captain Joseph Lawson, Third Cavalry, died of paralysis. Lawson served through the rebellion, and on the frontier since, being one of the bravest and best officers in the service. He was the real hero at Milk River, when Thornburg was killed by the Utes in September, 1879. His company held the Utes in check, with great loss while breastworks were being built. The Wyoming Legislature specially thanked Lawson for his meritorious services on that occasion.

FIVE hundred pounds of condensed citizenship have been sold in Boston as junk. That is the weight of the ballots cast in that city last November The law requires that they shall be destroyed without having been examined by anybody except properly authorised committees or other bodies and that is done by selling m to paper mills out of the State, where y are sent in sealed bags, which are not opened until their contents are to be ground up.

BIRTH.

HAYS—In Bridgeport, January 28, the wife of David Hays, a daughter.

The Supreme Court of the United States has adjourned until February 28th.
